Mr Bartholomeus-Henri Van de Velde has always been of great support to me. Always dedicated to listen carefully and to provide help or advice, always searching for solutions and always finding the right steps to help me reaching my highest goals.

He has stimulated me in many ways in my evolution as a concert violinist. He has helped me to build confidence, to develop my personality and to communicate my feelings and thoughts with the audience. Because delivering the message of these great composers through our own feelings and heart, is what music is all about.

Always firm when appropriate, he has assisted me to ambitiously aim at the highest level possible. He has offered his critical ear; he has always provided me with his honest opinion, and I have therefore found my coachings with Mr. Bartholomeus-Henri Van de Velde to be extremely valuable.
